C20 Meeting with the G20 Anti-Corruption Working Group

C20 Virtual Face-to-Face Meetings

Working together to remind leaders of those who are left behind and making our world and its inhabitants safe and resilient

Our Dear Members,

In these difficult times, we are glad that we are still able to welcome you to join the Virtual Meetings for the Civil Society Engagement Group to the G20 (C20). Now more than ever, our community needs to come together to remind the G20 of those who are left behind not only in the development process but in times like these where the world is fighting against the COVID-19 pandemic.

We are keen on having the bright minds of our civil society community working together to co-create policy recommendations the aid in making our world and its inhabitants safe and resilient.

We encourage you to get involved in as many C20 to G20 dialogues as you can and to share the discussions on social media and with your networks.

This document will be your guide to participating in the Virtual Face-to-Face Meetings.

We hope that you stay safe. Thank you for joining us.

Brief on the C20 Face-to-Face Meetings

The Face-to-Face meetings are held every year to facilitate an open dialogue between Civil Society Organizations and G20 officials, to exchange thoughts and co-create solutions. The discussions also aid in finalizing the C20 policy briefs and recommendations to G20 leaders.

The C20 exists to advocate for the ideas and interests of global citizens and communities in shaping G20 policies which can be implemented to deliver positive impact of all.

Currently, the C20 is composed on more than 500 Civil Society Organizations from G20 countries and beyond. Many of our members are topic experts, and are able to provide technical input on G20 issues.

The C20 is structured to mirror working groups in G20 Sherpa and Finance Tracks, including 11 working groups: Anti-Corruption, Climate, Energy & Sustainability, Digital Economy, Education, Employment & Social Protection, Gender, Global Health, Infrastructure, International Financial Architecture, Local2Global, Trade & Investment.

C20 Discussants

Blair Glencorse

Blair Glencorse is the International Lead for the C20 Anti-Corruption Working Group. Blair is leading a movement for accountability and integrity around the world through the Accountability Lab. The Lab works to build accountability-using the arts, media, culture and technology. Blair and his team have done everything from helping to found the first film school in Liberia to monitoring and improving public services in Pakistan to running a global TV show called Integrity Icon to "name and fame" honest government officials. The Accountability Lab recently won the UN's International Anti-Corruption Excellence Award.

Petter Matthews

Petter Matthews is an infrastructure and international development specialist with morethan 40 years' experience. He is also the Executive Director of Engineers Against Poverty (EAP), an independent NGO that works to influence infrastructure policy and engineering practice to maximize the benefits of infrastructure investment for poor and marginalized people. He has a BA Development Studies and Politics (SOAS, London) and an MSc in Social Policy and Planning in Developing Countries (LSE, London).

C20 Speakers

Christina Catalano

Christina Catalano is Forbes Under 30 startup CEO and a noted civil rights activist. She is the Founder and CEO of Thrive Innovation, an education startup that creates innovative solutions and teaching services for clients. Catalano is also the Founder and Chairman of The RISE Anti-Bullying Initiative, which has grown to become one of the largest and amongst the most recognized anti-bullying initiatives in the world. The Director-General of the Ministry of Ethiopia calls Catalano "a global figure." The Minister of Liberia calls Catalano "one of the most important activists of our time." Catalano has fought for not only anti-bullying policy, but for women's rights, workplace rights, children's rights, democracy, and peace between international states - and won.

Dr. Mohammad Nurunnabi

It takes a global voice to solve global problems. I'm tuned in to this year's #C20 Virtual Meeting which brings together over 500 CSOs! We are raising our voices. It's time for the #G20 to listen. #F2FwithG20

We need to connect local issues in different parts of the world to global issues and make sure that local perspectives are included in global policy discussions. The #C20 is asking our leaders to do that. #F2FwithG20

It's important to understand the impacts of going digital for education, employment, and in the fight against corruption. We're leading the way with our #F2FwithG20.

We're advocating for more inclusive #G20 policies and commitments to #CivilSociety: ending marginalization in education, employment, and health, protecting our planet and preserving biodiversity. #F2FwithG20
